WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk told Congress in testimony made public today that the United States has made clear it would intercept any Communist arms or troop shipments from Cuba to other Latin American nations.

U.N. Sees U.S., Cuba Tension Flare In Open

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Tension between Cuba and the United States flared into the open in the General Assembly today with a Cuban charge that Washington is preparing large-scale aggression against Fidel Castro's island.

Cuban Ambassador Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui took the assembly rostrum to level the charge as soon as Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson had completed a major U.S. policy speech in the general debate.

Stevenson had touched only briefly on the Cuban situation. Speaking of what he listed as threats "in a dark and precarious world," he said:

"The government of Cuba, with moral and material support from outside, carries on a campaign of subversion and vituperation against its neighbors in the Western Hemisphere."

Garcia-Inchaustegui immediately demanded the right of reply.

"The leader of the North American delegation has accused my government of a campaign of slander and vituperation," he said. "This is spoken before this august assembly by a man who, from this very platform, covered up the aggression of his government against our people, denying an aggression which a few days (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Good Evening!

Brisk breezes all over.

September skies by dawn and by twilight prettier than a picture. Soon, the autumnal haze and then we'll know the summer is done.

We wish the Phillies could just keep on playing until next spring. They beat the Cubs in an abbreviated game last night, 4-3, are now at the very respectable .500 average mark and in other years that was good enough for the first division.

But that's the way it goes. The football season always interfering with the baseball.

President Kennedy wins his biggest administration victory as the Senate overwhelmingly approves his trade relations program which gives the United States opportunity to harmonize its trade relations with the blossoming Common Market and other nations of the world.

The Senate acted very wisely. We'd better face it and understand: As the world has grown smaller, so has the global economic community and of this community the U.S. must be a very definite and cooperative member.

And two Senate committees, the Foreign Relations and Armed Services approve a joint resolution bluntly warning Khrushchev and the Kremlin that America will use force if necessary to halt the advance of Communism in this hemisphere.

A needed resolution, one that backs up the President in his recent warning to Russia, and one that lets the world know without a doubt that there is no division in U.S. thinking when it comes to determination to roadblock the Commie conspiracy.

We see where the State Highway Department has awarded a $361,840 contract for plans for a five-mile highway extension connecting the Delaware Expressway with the Scudder Falls bridge.

That makes sense. Up to now there's no Delaware Expressway as such, despite nearly a decade of talk and planning, and up to now there's no reasonable Pennsylvania approach to the Scudder Falls bridge. You wonder sometimes what these highway department boys smoke in their pipes.

When a gal suffers in silence it means her phone is out of order.

You want to know the direction to Washington, D.C.? Just go to Harvard and turn left.

Watch your driving, please.

Twp. Won't OK $257,450 To Widen Newportville Rd.

Request Made By State

By AL SKINNER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

A state highway department request for $257,450 for right-of-way acquisition for widening the Newportville-Fallsington Road was refused by the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners at a meeting last night.

The state had proposed a four-lane highway from Five Points, Levittown, to the Bensalem boundary line over Neshaminy Creek, including replacement of the bridge, with the additional money to be provided by Bristol Township.

Additional Costs

Leonard B. Sokolove, vice president of the commissioners, explained that the state was expected to pay for a two-lane highway, but if the township wanted a four-lane road, the township would have to pay the additional costs of installation.

The vote against the request was unanimous.

Commissioner James N. Kline pointed out that it is the state highway department's job to pay the costs for rebuilding a state highway. He added that the present road isn't a regulation two-lane highway. He suggested that the board tell the highway department that the township "just doesn't have the money at this time."

Right-Of-Way Portion

The highway department noted in its letter to the board that little more than construction of a new bridge over Neshaminy Creek would be undertaken if the local municipalities cannot contribute to the right-of-way portion.

In a letter to the board from the Bucks County Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes, the commissioners were advised that County Solicitor Samuel Gray was investigating the township's request to collect property taxes from the Burlington County Bridge Commission for part of the Burlington - Bristol Bridge approach, owned by the township.

17 Sign Petition

A full report from Gray is expected at a later date.

A 17-name petition was submitted to the commissioners from citizens of the Laurel Bend section.

Fire Station Site Okayed

The Middletown Township Planning Commission last night recommended that the township approve a sub-division plan that would authorize construction of a fire company sub-station on Oxford Valley Road near Woodbourne Road.

The plan being considered was entered by the tract's owner, Brony Biel. The William Penn Fire Company of Hulmeville has plans to build the sub-station on the approximately one acre site.

Robert Lattomus, chairman of the planning commission, said the centrally located site is a good one "It would be hard to find a better one for a fire sub-station," Lattomus declared.

Radioactive Levels Rise

HARRISBURG (UPI)—The state Health Department yesterday said a slight rise in radioactive levels indicated by its milk sampling network was "no cause for immediate concern."

The average level of Iodine-131 found was less than 20 micro-microcuries, while the maximum was 45 micro-microcuries per liter of milk. The federal government calls for increased surveillance when the average daily intake of radioactive iodine rises above 10.

Looking down on Bristol Township this aerial photograph shows the site along the Delaware River where the State Department of Forests and Waters will build a marina to handle 300 boats.

The marina will be constructed along the river in the Croydon area at the mouth of the Neshaminy Creek (arrow). (Courier-Times Aerial Photo by Ron Brown)

New State Park Named Neshaminy

The historic Logan Estate, located at the mouth of the Neshaminy Creek, is now known as Neshaminy State Park.

The name was chosen by the state geographic board, Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters said yesterday. The board gives official names to major geographic areas in the state.

The name is derived from the Neshamene Indian tribe that inhabited the area in pre-colonial days.

88-Acre Tract

Planned for the 88-acre tract, Goddard said, is a major size swimming pool in addition to the $850,000 boat marina to be constructed in the spring. The pool is to be completed within two years, Goddard said.

The state park is located in both Bensalem and Bristol Townships, each of which borders the Neshaminy Creek at its junction with the Delaware River.

Goddard said that the marina would be able to accommodate 300 vessels with facilities for 200 to anchor. The marina will include a two-story building containing two shops for boating supplies and repairs and a cafeteria.

No name has been decided yet for the state park which is drained by the Tohickon Creek in Upper Bucks.

Studies Right-Of-Way

Twp. May Construct Road To Marina Site

Construction of a road leading into the proposed site of a state marina at Croydon will be made by Bristol Township authorities as soon as the township's right-of-way is established.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners last night, in answer to a letter from the state department of forests and waters.

An investigation to determine if the township has complete ownership of the strip will be held, prior to installation of the roadway.

If the strip is within the township right-of-way, the improvement will be made as soon as possible, Vincent H. Hartley, township manager said. No estimate was given on the cost of the new roadway.

We May Get Frost Tonight

The advent of frost always good news to hay fever sufferers, may occur tonight, according to the weather bureau.

Temperatures about or below 32 degrees are predicted for the outlying areas of Trenton.

The air behind the cold front moving through the area yesterday is the coldest of the season, it was reported.

Welsh Macing Hearing Set Tomorrow

Democratic County Chairman John T. Welsh is scheduled to have a hearing tomorrow on macing charges before Justice of the Peace Miss I. Elizabeth Jones of Jamison, District Attorney Paul R. Beckert said today.

At the hearing, slated for 3:30 p.m., Miss Jones will determine whether evidence presented by county detectives is sufficient to hold the 48-year-old Doylestown realtor for action of the November Grand Jury.

The Courier-Times learned today that Welsh will be represented by Doylestown attorney William M. Power, a former Republican executive committee member.

Partner Of Valmont

Power is the law partner of Robert W. Valmont, Democratic candidate for the state senate. Power withdrew from GOP affairs when Valmont announced his candidacy last spring.

Valmont represented Welsh when the county chairman was arrested Sept. 5, and arraigned before Miss Jones. Welsh pleaded not guilty to two violations of the state anti-macing statute. He was released in $500 bail and scheduled for a further hearing.

Welsh is charged with demanding assessments on the salaries of highway workers who live in Bucks County.

The Democratic chairman allegedly told turnpike commission and state highway workers at two different times (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

U.S. Troops Go Into E. Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — The United States sent armed troop convoys through East Germany again today in a show of determination to keep Allied access routes to Berlin open.

Two U.S. Army convoys left Berlin for West Germany along the 110-mile Berlin - Helmstedt highway and two others left West Germany on their way to Berlin.

Russian jets rocked West Berlin with a sonic boom by crashing the sound barrier over the divided city. This has become a frequent Soviet tactic since the Communists built the Berlin wall in August, 1961, and is presumably to harass West Berliners.

A total of 107 trucks and jeeps carrying 398 U.S. soldiers moved across the Autobahn in both directions through Soviet-held East Germany today.

Runaways From Institution 4 Youths In Stolen Auto Are Arrested

Falls Township Police turned over four teenagers, two 13 and two 14-year-olds, runaways from the Janet Memorial Home, in Elizabeth, N.J., to New Brunswick, N.J. juvenile authorities yesterday. Police had stopped them on a routine car check and found they were driving a stolen car.

Further investigation revealed the 14-year-old driver had a two year history of car thefts. All the boys had long juvenile records.

Lounge Provided Police To Get New County Seat Seats

Law enforcement officials of Bucks County are being provided with a new lounge.

The lounge, however, will not be located in the plush judicial wing of the courthouse but on the seventh floor of the administration building. It will measure approximately 20 by 26 feet, according to Wesley Erven, building superintendent.

The county commissioners told Erven to find new quarters after the 11 by 14 foot lounge in the judicial wing was termed "inadequate" by the Bucks County Fraternal Order of Police.

The lounge was to have been located next to the attorney's lounge on the fourth floor but separated by a partition. The FOP had asked the commissioners to allow it to share the attorney's lounge (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3) tion, asking for landscape work at Linton Circle.

The commissioners pointed out that the area mentioned in the petition had been seeded and top soil had been placed there almost a year ago, fulfilling a request by the citizens there. According to the agreement, the citizens had agreed to plant their own shrubbery and trees.

The board agreed that the area should be inspected again.

Commissioner Carl F. Vetter suggested that the three-quarter-acre lot be used as a playground for the children.

Suggests Fence

Commissioner Arthur F. Diehl Jr. pointed out, however, that "if the lot were used as a playground and shrubbery were planted there, chances of a child running out from the bushes and being struck by a vehicle would be higher." He suggested that a fence be placed around the area. No action was taken on his request.

An ordinance creating one-way streets was adopted by the board. Expected to go into effect within two weeks, the following streets were listed as one-ways:

Beaver Dam Road, easterly from Norton to Plymouth Ave. Ellwood Ave., westerly from Plymouth to Norton Ave. Norton Ave., full length southerly from Ellwood Ave. to Beaver Dam Road.

Plymouth Ave., northerly from Beaver Dam Road to Ellwood Ave.

Township Manager Vincent H. Hartley explained that the ordinance would be effective 10 days after it is advertised in the Courier-Times.

Three bids for purchase of new tires and trucks for vehicles used by the township police and road departments and township officials were received by the commissioners last night.

Submitting bids for tires and tubes, expected to cost around $7,000 were the General Tire, Langhorne; Joseph Kuhn and Son, Trevoise; and Nadler Supply, Levittown.

Technical Requirement

The Kuhn Company failed to submit a certified check, and its bid wasn't opened. Sokolove made a motion that the commissioners' waive the technical requirement of a certified check, and, if the Kuhn bid is accepted, make a requirement that a certified check be re-submitted.

The motion didn't carry.

In other business, the commissioners regrettably accepted the resignation of Edward Roth as a civilian radio dispatcher, and, after a closed session, decided to replace Roth with a physically handicapped person.

Five police officers of the Bristol Township police department received pay raises from $4,555 to $4,735. There are Richard Boyle, Charles Glogowski, Bernard Scott, Gerald Sternich and Kenneth Underdown.

ferent meetings in July that they were to contribute between one and five per cent of their pay—depending on the amount of their salaries—to the Democratic election campaign. Several workers filed complaints with the state attorney—general.

Welsh and a group of Bucks Democrats are to attend the Democratic fund-raising dinner in Harrisburg tonight. President Kennedy will be guest speaker.

Welsh planned to remain in Harrisburg overnight. His attorney is reported to have asked that the hearing be postponed until Monday.

Beckert Expected To Attend

Beckert today said that he did not know which members of his staff would be present. It is expected, however, that Beckert and at least one county detective will attend.

Welsh's attorney, Power, in 1961 sought the GOP endorsement for district attorney. The endorsement, however, first went to Harold S. Patton, a Levittown attorney. It was later changed from Patton to Beckert. The Democratic county committee failed by one vote to endorse Beckert for district attorney.

A hospital spokesman said that X-Rays of a bump on Heinemann's head were negative but he was being detained for further tests. He was taken to the hospital by the Pennel-Middletown Rescue Squad.

Going in Circles

By Jim Stanton

Judges who are seeking a judicial office must be necessary use the soft-shell technique.

Thus, Judge Samuel J. Roberts came to Doylestown yesterday to campaign for election to the state Supreme Court but in a way the public is unaccustomed to.

A youthful 55, the judge gave no speeches, was accompanied by no fanfare, poured no vitriol over his Democrat opponent. Judge Roberts is President-Judge of Erie County Orphans' Court.

All that a judge can do at a press conference is to hand reporters a biographical sheet listing his experience as a member of the bar. There are a number of rules of conduct called the Canons of Judicial Ethics that keep a judge from saying, doing (and acting) like other political candidates who are not running for a judgeship.

One canon, in part, says that a judge who is a candidate for office "should refrain from all conduct that might tend to arouse reasonable suspicion he is using the power and prestige of his judicial position to promote his candidacy or the success of his party."

"We can't discuss the issues publicly," the judge said, "nor are we wholly free to defend ourselves."

"Our appeal is to those persons who are interested in the administration of justice. I have found in my travels that many persons are deeply concerned as to whether justice is properly administered."

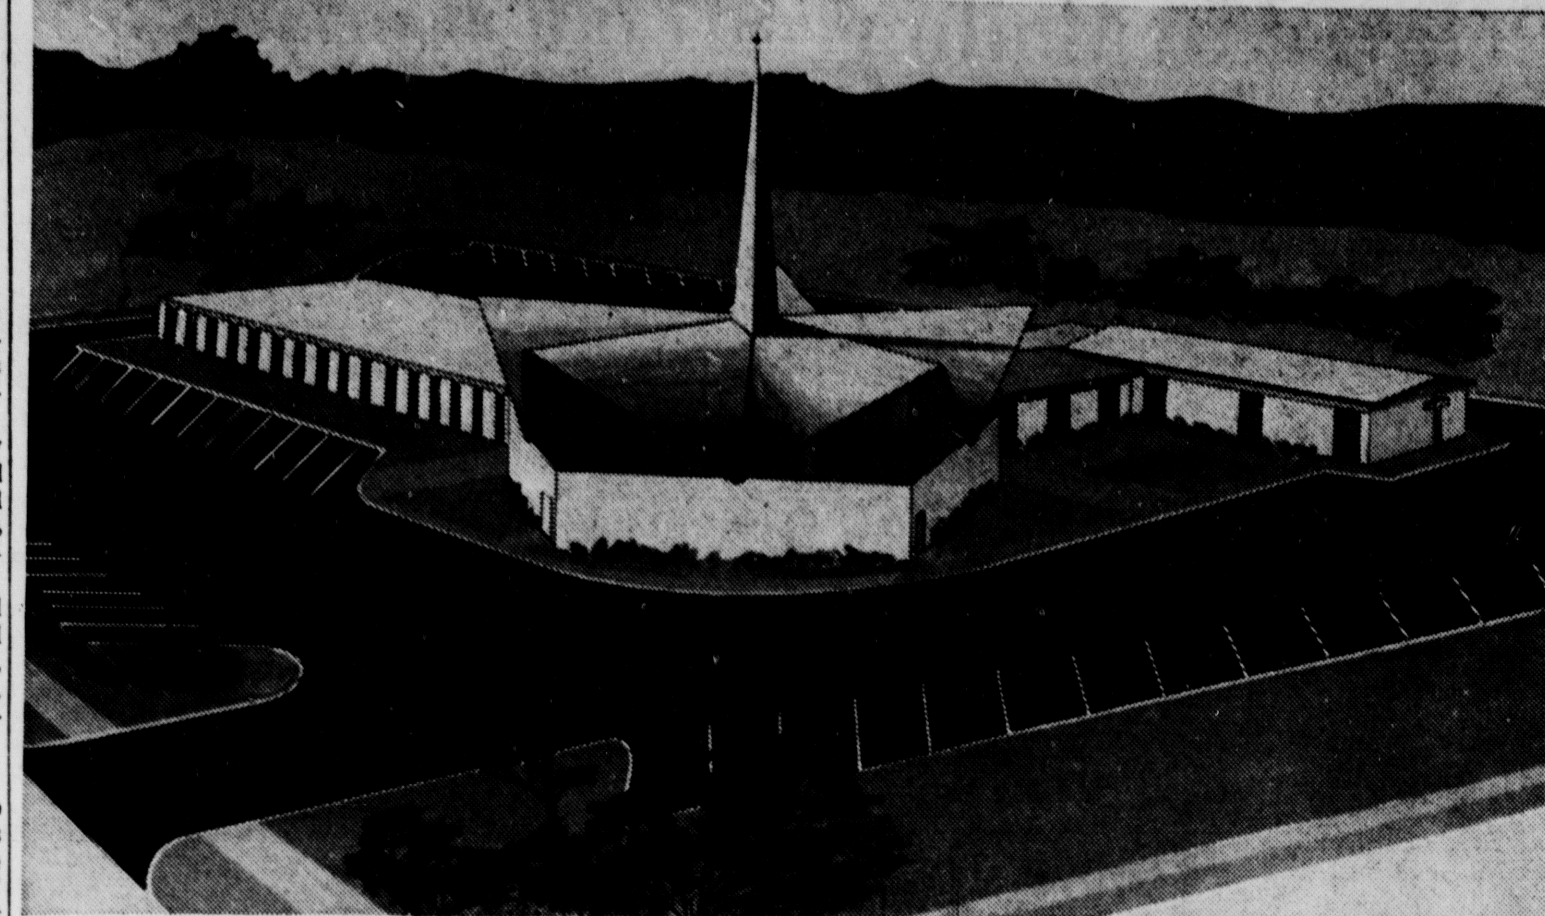

The jurist, who has been on the bench for more than 10 years, sat with reporters for about a half hour, speaking in a free and easy manner. His opponent is Judge Earl S. Keim of Westmoreland County.

Assemblyman Alan D. Williams during the conference said that although the judge was limited as to what topics he could discuss, he (Williams) could say a few words in his behalf.

"Judge Roberts has been endorsed in numerous newspapers across the state," Williams said. "In fact, several papers in his opponent's own county, are backing Judge Roberts."

Following the meeting, the judge went to a luncheon at the Conti's Cross Keys Inn where members of the county bar association were waiting to meet him. He later toured the new county courthouse and the Doylestown Intelligencer.

New Church For Fairless Hills

Shown above is an artist's conception of the ultimate proposed church building for Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Fairless Hills. The church was designed by the architectural firm of Michael A. Meloni, A.I.A., of Langhorne. The main sanctuary (shown in the foreground) has a pentagonal-shaped floor plan with the altar in the center. The section to the right of the main sanctuary is that portion of the ultimate design to be erected immediately. It will contain a chapel with seating for 182 plus a choir, and three departmental Sunday School rooms, a kitchen, mechanical room and a pastor's office. The congregation, which now meets at the Hugh Carcella Community Center, Fairless Hills is currently engaged in a fund raising effort and expects to break ground on Oct. 21. The Rev. Walter L. Hitchcock Jr., is pastor.

2 Policemen Suspended

Two Wrightstown Township patrolmen have been suspended but township officials are remaining mum as to the reason why.

Alvin Worthington, chairman of the township supervisors, today confirmed that Officers Russell Reed and Horace Moister have been "suspended indefinitely" as of last week.

Worthington, who is also police commissioner, referred a reporter to the two other supervisors who make up the board.

No Idea

"I don't have any idea why they were suspended," Worthington said. "You'd better speak to Mr. (Carl) Church or Mr. (Charles) Lindberg. They passed the motion to suspend them."

Neither supervisor could be contacted today.

The Wrightstown Township police force has one full-time patrolman (Reed) with three part-time officers.

Worthington said that the reason for the patrolmen's suspension would probably be made public at the board's next meeting on Oct. 8.

quarters but the board disregarded the request.

The new lounge, Erven said, will be located on the site of the board of elections office which is being moved to the second floor of the administration building.

Pressing Room

As soon as the commissioners ordered the police lounge to be relocated, the county courthouse tipstaves applied for the "inadequate" lounge for use as a dressing room.

Newspaper reporters are expected to request that the county commissioners provide a press table in each of the six new courtrooms. At present, reporters must sit in the spectators seats. Some have remarked that it is difficult to hear in Courtroom 1, the largest of the six.

The car was stolen from Mary M. Hefferon, of 411 Graham St., Highland Park, N.J. She had left the ignition in the "on" position while she went shopping, police reported.

Correction

The Courier-Times incorrectly reported Tuesday that James McGregor, 46 Lilac Lane, Lakeside, was indicted by the Bucks County Grand Jury on charges of striking a picket with his truck.

The report should have read that Harris Covon of 6156 Walker St., Philadelphia, was the driver and was indicted on charges brought by McGregor. McGregor was the picket.

The incident occurred at the Giles and Ransome plant in Bensalem Township on April 18 when members of a local were on strike there.

Negro Heads For U Of M, Faces Arrest

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—Negro James Meredith prepared to leave today for the University of Mississippi and possible arrest on a four-month-old voter registration charge.

Negro attorneys in Memphis, where the 29-year-old Negro has been awaiting his chance to enroll at the all-white school, said he would arrive on the campus here this afternoon.

As he was preparing to leave Memphis, however, a justice of the peace court in Jackson, Miss., held an early morning trial of the Negro student on a charge he once listed the wrong county in applying to vote and thus falsified the registration. He was convicted and sentenced to the maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $500 fine.

Neither Meredith nor his attorney was present although they were notified the trial would take place and Justice of the Peace Homer Edgeworth said Meredith was subject to arrest. He had been at the trial, Meredith's attorney could have posted appeal bond.

The trial followed a barrage of last-ditch maneuvers by state officials to attempt to prevent integration of the school. There also were several incidents on the campus here.

A 27-foot cross made of oil-soaked gunny sacks was burned, apparently by university student pranksters, on the campus about 12:30 a.m. today. The sacks were laid out on the ground in the shape of a cross. The city fire department extinguished the blaze in a few minutes.

Fireman Hurt In Truck Fall

A Bristol volunteer fireman was injured last night when he was thrown from a fire engine as it was heading along Wood St., Bristol.

Bart Moore, 27, 446 Pond St., a member of Bristol Fire Co. No. 1, was standing on the back of the fire truck, which was operated by David R. Reday, 235 Cedar St., Bristol.

Moore was thrown off the truck as it passed over a dip in the road, and was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital where he was treated for lacerations to the left elbow, little finger of the left hand, and to the ankle.

The accident occurred at 7:10 p.m.

later was confessed by the President of the United States.

Charges Aggression

The Cuban said the United States was "violating our air space, infiltrating our country and sending mercenaries against our coasts."

"The aggression of his government has destroyed the houses of our workers, damaged our industry and killed thousands of our citizens, with bombs..."

"You say you defend the charter of the United Nations. You tell your aggressive generals that in our country, more than 6 million Cubans will defend with something more than the sweet words of the charter."

Russia Leads In Big Bombs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Russians once more are rapidly extending their lead over the West in the testing of giant nuclear weapons.

The current Soviet test series, atomic sources said today, proves again that the Russians are more interested in perfecting city-killers than in developing small "limited war" weapons for battlefield use.

The United States, these sources believe, still excels in the smaller weapon field.

Since Russia resumed atmospheric testing in early August, nearly 70 per cent of the explosions have been of megaton size or bigger. A megaton is the power equivalent of a million tons of TNT.

Ten out of 14 Soviet explosions announced here by the Atomic Energy Commission have been of megaton caliber. They have ranged from one or two megatons to 30.

The proportion of giants in the current series to date has been even greater than it was in the 1961 Soviet program when about 50 per cent of the explosions were in the megaton range.

The United States this year has exploded 27 nuclear test devices in the Pacific. Only six were megatonners or bigger. They represented about 22 per cent of the total. The largest of the big U.S. weapons was a pigmy compared to the biggest of the Soviet shots.

All this does not necessarily mean the Russians have a bigger arsenal than the West of nuclear weapons ready for use. Most U.S. experts believe the West has the larger multi-purpose stockpile.

situation in Cuba should be taken seriously but not hysterically."

A principal objective of the proposed resolution, the report said, is to "prevent that threat from materializing through force or the threat of force."

The resolution, which won the support of the 33 senators on the two Senate committees, would express the determination of the United States to use all necessary means "including the use of arms" to resist the spread of Cuban communism in the Western Hemisphere.

It would also declare the determination of this nation to prevent creation in Cuba of an "externally supported military capability endangering the security of the United States." It would pledge the United States to work with the organization of American states and with freedom-loving Cubans to support "the aspirations of the Cuban people for self determination."

Bensalem Board Explains Insurance

By PAUL ALTAIRE
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The time was 11:30 p.m.

The Bensalem School Board recognized the Bensalem Taxpayers Association three-and-a-half hours after the meeting began; two hours after it went into executive session.

The taxpayers association had a question.

"Why did the school directors last year award an insurance contract to one agency and reject the bid of another agency which could offer the same insurance at almost half the cost?"

It was a good question.

The school board had a good answer.

The board said it did not reject a bid from another agency "because it never got a bid from another agency."

The board also said that no bids had been advertised; that it simply appointed a broker of record to handle all its insurance matters since it did not have any employee on the administrative staff to handle such complex matters.

New Orleans B-Girl Joints Will Be Closed

NEW ORLEANS, (UPI)—Every strip tease bar in New Orleans' colorful French Quarter will be closed by next spring in a crackdown on B-girls, District Attorney Jim Garrison predicted today.

"I don't think there is going to be a single strip joint left," Garrison said.

The new district attorney said strip clubs on Bourbon and Canal Sts. depend on B-girls for their profits. He said it must stop.

Get Commission

B-girls employed by the bars coerce customers to buy them drinks, usually tea disguised as liquor or champagne, and get a commission.

"Whether B-drinking is moral or immoral is not for me to decide..." Garrison said. "It happens that B-drinking is against the law."

He said night club owners had applied "economic pressures" in the past to prevent enforcement of laws against B-drinking.

"But this time, a mistake was made," he said. "An independent district attorney was elected."

Must Change

He said that because of such clubs' dependence on B-drinking for profits, they would have to close or switch to jazz and other forms of entertainment.

Some of the clubs are thinking about switching their programs. Others are "sweating it out."

French Quarter night clubs, with dozens of strip joints with about a two-block area of Bourbon St. are the main after-dark tourist attraction in New Orleans.

Board Explanation

The board also explained that while the insurance rates of the agency which claims to have entered a bid may have been lower, that agency handles only insurance from one company.

The board said that while the company may be a recognized insurance agency, if it should decide to cancel any of its policies, the agent would not be in position to place the insurance with another company.

On the other hand, the board said, the agency now handling its insurance is a broker agency and should an insurance policy be cancelled by one company, the broker could immediately place the insurance with another company. This, the board said, could not be done by the agency working for just one insurance company.

Coverage Question

As for the savings in the cost of the insurance, the board said it had no way of knowing whether the coverage would have been the same.

The board also wanted to know how the agency which claimed to have submitted a lower bid on school bus and other vehicle insurance could have known what the awarded insurance contract included if he had not actually seen the contract.

Policy Size

It was disclosed that the agency had not "actually seen the contract" but had been told by an administration official what the size of the policy was. The board said this was hardly enough information to base a conclusion that the policies offered were identical.

The agent who said he submitted the bid had been to the meeting while the board was in executive session. But when the public meeting was reopened, "he mysteriously has disappeared," an association member said.

Algiers Votes, And Battles

ALGIERS (UPI)—A gunbattle broke out between rival troops today during the first national elections since Algeria became independent from France.

A spokesman for the Algerian army said "several dozen" soldiers were wounded in a clash with Willaya Four forces in the Baimen eucalyptus forest east of Algiers. Willaya Four is the military district encompassing the capital, whose leaders have opposed strongman Ahmed Ben Bella's bid for power.

Spokesman Yacef later told newsmen the fighting broke out Wednesday night and continued into today, but that late this morning the opposing troops held a conference. Presumably, it was to discuss a cease fire.

Ten truckloads of troops roared through the streets of Algiers, loaded with soldiers carrying sub-machineguns at the ready. They headed for Bain Romain, a small village near the forest.

The trucks rushed past lines of Algerians waiting to vote for a single state of candidates chosen by Ben Bella's Political Bureau. Ben Bella set up the bureau to run Algeria until a popular government takes over.

Home Owner In Middle

Levitt and Sons some years ago constructed a house where a road should have been.

At least this is the contention of Commissioner Arthur F. Diehl Jr. of Bristol Township, who investigated the situation following a complaint by a resident at a meeting last night of the commissioners.

Close To House

Joseph Hahn, 30 Kenwood Drive South, Kenwood, Levittown, complained to the board that an apartment house was being constructed near his home, and the parking lot of the project was only about 25 feet from his house. This, he said, poses a great danger to his children as well as neighborhood children.

An inquiry into the Haines Road project showed that Levitt and Sons had erred and constructed a home at the wrong spot, Diehl said.

The board promised Hahn an immediate investigation into the matter.

Twp. Lists Meetings

The feasibility of a curfew ordinance in Bristol Township will be discussed by the township commissioner's legislative committee at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 1, in the Bristol Township Municipal Building.

Commissioner Samuel U. Delp, chairman of the committee, made the announcement at a meeting of the commissioners last night.

Other special meetings slated include:

The building committee at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 8, in the township municipal building.

The civil defense committee at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 10, in the township municipal building.

The zoning committee has slated a special meeting on a date to be announced later.
